

Intro the Gravity

Falling Up

This place I pass is in my eyes
The words you spoke, they blow away like leaves in time
Your clarity, it starts to need
And I am left with words, I'm leaving underneath This is oceans in races start again
'Cause you want everything
This is oceans in races start again
'Cause you want everything I see beneath, I hear the breath
I feel the deep and shallow dreams that try to pass
But in this place, where echoes stay
Is just the place where I will start to find escape This is oceans in races start again
'Cause you want everything
This is oceans in races start again
'Cause you want everything Your world is crashing to the ground
You're alone
Your world is crashing to the ground
You're alone This is oceans in races start again
'Cause you want everything
This is oceans in races start again
'Cause you want everything This is oceans in races start again
'Cause you want everything
This is oceans in races start again
'Cause you want everything
