

Emily

Nine Days

Now, Emily hides in a way
She is waiting for a knight in shining armor
And I know that nothing I'd say
Could make her see me as a man of honorBut I amNow, sometimes I wish she could see through
All the rain and clouds that fill her sky
And know that tomorrow brings with wings
Of bird a song to fill her mindAnd I am, oh yes I amThe one who can sing all of the dreams
The one who can make them all come true
If she would believe, I'm down on my knees
But in my hands I holdNow, Emily stands at the door
A picture lies in pieces on the floor
The one where we walked on the beach
The wind blew waves that crashed upon the shoreOh we are, forever moreThe one who can sing all of our dreams
The one who can make them all come true
If she would believe, I'm down on my knees
But in my hands I holdEverything that she wants, everything that should be
As far as her, big blue eyes could seeIf she would believe, I'm down on my knees
But in my hands I holdWhat do you want me to do? My head in my hands
I wait for the words to come and make you understand
So tell me I'm right, tell me I touched you down
So deep insideNow, Emily hides in a way
She is waiting for a knight in shining armor
And I know that nothing I'd say
Can make her see me as a man of honorI'm the one who can sing all of our dreams
The one who can make them all come true
If she would believe, I'm down on my knees
But in my hands I holdEverything that she wants, everything that should be
As far as her, big blue eyes could seeIf she would believe, I'm down on my knees
But in my hands I hold, in my hands I hold the ring
