

Ode to the Morning Sky

John Southworth

Ode to the morning sky
I see you rising
Shinin' through the shadows
Fallin' with colour
Feelin' at wonder
What am I, what am I, what am I, what am I, what am I
Ode to the morning sky
I hear you singing
Cold song of the angels
Soundin' the trumpet
Over the songbird
What am I, what am I, what am I
When I'm out on the river
When I have no name
When I cannot tell which trail I came on
There is gold in the desert that has gone unclaimed
For so long, for so long
Now it's gone, now it's gone
Ode to the morning sky
My heart is cleansing
Dark clouds are retreating
Stay with me darling
Now I can see you
What are we, what are we, what are we, what are we, what are we
Yes,
Ode to the morning sky
I see you dancing
Slow dance of the angels
Slaying the darkness
Raising the hearts
What are we, what are we, what are we
When we're out on the river
When we have no names
When we cannot tell which trail we came on
There is gold in the desert that has gone unclaimed
For so long, for so long
Now it's gone, now it's gone
