Sweet Mistakes

Ellis Paul

Pop the cork, a champagne glass
Raise to the future, drink to the past
Thank the Lord for the friends he cast
In the play he wrote for youAnd if you love the girl, man, light up a torch
Blaze a trail to her front porch
Kiss her till your lips are scorched
Till the rain comes down on youBless your sweet mistakes
That crumble you down to your knees
That brought you to this place
Changing you by degrees
When change was just what you needed
What you neededSo if you live your life in a three piece suit
In a cocktail dress, or combat boots
You pick your path and you walk your truth
And the world will come 'round to youIt's a long strange ride, I can't tell you why
But there's a place in your pocket where peace can abide
You pull it out, it's a compass, a guide
And it will put a little soul on youBless your sweet mistakes
That crumble you down to your knees
That brought you to this place
Changing you by degrees
When change was just what you neededAnd in this wild blue world
There is a soul weavin' fine feelin' girl
But you've got to walk in paradise to find a pearl
If you only believe
You'll get what you need, what you needed, yeahI conquer your fear and you'll master the game
Life is always and never the same
Use a little faith to light the flame
And I know you'll connect to youBless your sweet mistakes
That crumble you down to your knees
That brought you to this place
Changing you by degrees
When change was just what you needed
What you neededPop the cork, a champagne glass
Raise to the future, drink to the past
Thank the Lord for the friends he cast
In the play he wrote for you
