

Come Again

Bread

Hear, the knock at the door and you know who is there
You tell yourself you don't care
Try, you try to pretend you'll just send him away
You know it won't end that way Your heart doesn't stand a chance
Your eyes let him know
And your pride doesn't mean a thing
You lost it for him years ago Hear, the voice at the door and it makes you afraid
Afraid, but you don't know how
Try, you try to remind him the promise he made
He doesn't remember now The tears welling up inside
Are drowning your dreams
And your chance for another chance
Keep leaving with him now it seems Time, the friend that would bring him around
Is turning on you and it's bringing you down Love, you tell him you love him and want him to change
He says that he'll really try
Hear, how often you hear as he's closing the door
And softly you say goodbye Come again
Come again

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnllyrics.com/>