

Nobody (with Charlie Worsham)

The Doobie Brothers

Evil ways of practice may surround you
Callin' on your inner core of life
But your father was just a complex man of business
And your mother merely portioned out your fright But run the risk of a sudden loss
You got no mama to bear your cross beside you
As midnight angels shine their wings
And time begins just to build a wall around you Nobody, nobody gonna take my love away from me
Nobody, nobody gonna take my love away from me Settin' out on a voyage down to Jenner
I've given all I've got to help the cause
Need a place just to settle out my pressures
A place where you and I can sit and pause So I can see the sky at night
Without a fear of hidden light to blind me
So you see the path is clear
Changes will be swayed around me Nobody, nobody gonna take my love away from me
Nobody, nobody gonna take my love away from me Nobody, nobody gonna take my love away from me
Nobody, nobody gonna take my love away from me
