

Shoeing the Bones

Cate Le Bon

Ive got a love - Ive got a love
Open my hand and make a jump
Im on a train its overrun
I fought like its not the only one.
Why could you go, where could you stay,
Ill die on my feet an Ill pass away
Grippin the rope in days just gone
And shoeing the bones for evryone.
And these are hard times to fall in love
These are hard times to fall in love
Oh I fell upon a hard hard mile
Shoed me some bones to stake my time
And I gunned for your love right through the sun
Shoeing the bones for evryone.
And these are hard times to fall in love
These are hard times to fall in love
And these are hard hard times
These are hard hard times
