

Captiva

Wendell Rivera

Light breaks the morning glaring headlights in the fog
To see how measurements and aerospace is moving up
 This sudden danger is my calling I can swear
 When I am ready I'll release
 So lost for words, this stranger heard
 That I'm gone forever, leapt before the fall
 In a million, in a million pieces I am breaking up
 To the future, to the future science is the circle taught
 And light breaks the morning flooding headlights in the fog

 With measurements and aerospace
 So lost for words, this stranger heard
 That I'm gone forever, leapt before the fall
 I'm leaping out too far, I've never been so sure
 Letting go off charts, falling close to stars
 In a million, in a million
 In a million, in a million
