Brick by Brick

Racoon

Brick by brick
We build a house
And then we broke it down
Word for word we ment to hurt
And then we killed the sound
Well it starts with a joke
And then it goes up in smoke
And leaves us wandering how
And no one knows that's all she wrote
Well at least for nowWe're building a fire
Warm up in it's arms
Tears are like diamonds
Nothing is ever good enough for ya
We're building a fire
Warm up in it's arms
Flames are the layers
Nothing here is ever good enough
Nothing here is ever good enough for loveAnd brick by brick we build a house
In this crazy town
And word for word you make love or get hurt
I won't back down
And it starts with a kiss
Did it end up like this
Shit I'm running round
It goes to show you never will know
What life's about what life's aboutWe're building a fire
Warm up in it's arms
Tears are like diamonds
Nothing is ever good enough for ya
We're building a fire
Warm up in it's arms
Flames are the layers
Nothing hereStone by stone we make a home
Just to ?? maybe for a while
Close together and still alone
It's quite the life or quite a lie
Oh we're building a wall right before our eyes
Close together and still aloneWe're building a fire
To warm up in it's arms

Tears are like diamonds
Cause nothing here is ever good enough for ya
We're building a fire
Warm up in it's arms
Flames are the layers
Nothing here is ever good enough for ya
Building a fire here
We warm up in it's arms
Nothing here is ever good enough for love
Nothing here is ever good enough good enough for love
