Sorry (For Loving You)

Lewys Preston

Sometimes I forget about the consequences
I dream of you and I seem to loose my senses
There ain't just no words to describe my feelings hot and cold, wet and dry, babe you keep my heart beating

You say that we canâ€™t be together
Love and distance, family, friends, and all those f*cking circumstances
I say who are they to dare
The world might be against us but I donâ€™t care

Iâ€™m sorry for loving you too much
Forgive me, I just need your touch
Believe me, your affection is my drug
(Woah)

I know Iâ€™m not the best lover
I feel like a lunatic, romantic undercover
That changed the moment you stepped in my life
Now I feel so different, but yet feel so right

I know Iâ€™m not a rich man
But I donâ€™t need a thing if only I can make you smile and make you feel that
All my love for you is real

Iâ€™m sorry for loving you too much
Forgive me, I just need your touch
Believe me, your affection is my drug
(Woah)

Well, I never meant to hurt you I guess itâ€™s time that I learn to Keep it slow, keep it down, keep it real, â€˜cuz babe you know how I feel.

Iâ€™m sorry for loving you too much
Forgive me, I just need your touch
Believe me, your affection is my drug

(Woah)

Lyrics Submitted by Peter Lewys Preston

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/