

Final Curtain

Yngwie Malmsteen

What's left for me to see?
In my ship I sailed so far
What can the answers be?
Don't know what the questions are And after all I've done
Still I cannot feel the sun
Tell me, save me
In the end our lost souls must repent I must know it is for certain
Can it be the final curtain?
As long as the wind will blow
I'll be searching high and low Who knows what's really true?
They say the end is so near
Why are we all so cruel?
We just fill ourselves with fear And heaven and hell will turn
All that we love shall burn
Hear me, trust me
In the end our lost souls must repent I must know it is for certain
Can it be the final curtain?
As long as the wind will blow
I'll be searching high and low
