Built For The Future

The Fixx

Some say a trick and some say a look
It's just a way of thinking after all
From underneath something concrete
It's just a way of coping, coping with it all
Some with revolt and some will obey
Who attains perfection and who's to say
A criminal or a cardinal
They're both frightened of angels
It doesn't mean much now
It's built for the future
It doesn't mean much now
It's built for the future
For some a walk, to some a dance
It's just a form of motion in one and all
Without dispute the least aware
And no doubt see the raging's of a fool
But first we look and then we spy
The man who has a vision wants it all
A sin so clean, rule supreme
The power to undermine
It doesn't mean much now
It's built for the future
It doesn't mean much now
It's built for the future
It doesn't mean much now
Built it up , build it up
It's for the future
Some say a trick and some say a look
Some say a trick and some say a look
And first a glance and then a chance
To make a simple gesture worth it all
A conquer all, desert stall
That serves a drink to people under this sun
At last the place, but now where's the time
To take in all the other points of view
Some are inert but one exists
To build a bridge
It doesn't mean much now
It's built for the future

It doesn't mean much now
It's built for the future
It doesn't mean much now
It's built for the future
It doesn't mean much now
It's built for the future
It doesn't mean much now
It's built for the future
It doesn't mean much now
It's built for the future
