The Haze

Elf Power

Vanishing the frozen things that haunt you in your heart memories eventually will tear themselves apart Beasts and babies drain away the colors of your face down below the waters grow to carry you awayFar below we see them the strangers in the road
pull me from the haze
we'll fly away
leave me in the morning when you go along your wayMonuments of angry men stand everywhere you go lose the map, don't go back, desert your happy home Deep beneath the city streets the silver stream awaits there the clones will grow their bones into another shapeFar below we see them
the strangers in the road
pull me from the haze
we'll fly away
leave me in the morning
when you go along your wayAnd the superman are laughing at you now and the snakes are crawling from the underground and the eyes of god are watching from the sky and the creature will defeat you in the nightVoice of thunder pouring out the secrets in the skies coming through the morning to erase the modern mind Throats of birds are wet with words caught from the misty rain all of them repeating, circled in an endless chainFar below we see them
the strangers in the road
pull me from the haze
we'll fly away
leave me in the morning
when you go along your way

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/