Honey Sweet

Blossoms

I'm out, will she love me?
I'm still seeing honey sweet
You shout 'don't you leave me'
'Don't you leave this incomplete'I wanna know if this road
Belongs to my eyes and only mineThen I'd go back and show my love
A heart attack, I'm told I should have known
No more nights alone, so cold
Let's go back discreet, honey sweetI'm out, I heard a heavy creak
Behind my window, honey sweet
There's no doubt you still love me
You'd still love this incompleteI wanna know if this road
Belongs to my eyes and only mineThen I'd go back and show my love
A heart attack, I'm told I should have known
No more nights alone, so cold
Let's go back discreet, honey sweetTeardrops stain skies of thunder
Autumn pain, change my number
I've seen you two about
And talk about reboundingThen I'd go back and show my love
A heart attack, I'm told I should have known
No more nights alone, so cold
Let's go back discreetThen I'd go back and show my love
A heart attack, I'm told I should have known
No more nights alone, so cold
Let's go back discreetHoney sweet
Honey sweet
Honey sweet
Honey sweet
Honey sweet
