Tonight

Tanya Stephens

Tomorrow I'm gonna wake up
Wondering why the hell I did this Tomorrow I'm gonna make up
Stories 'bout how somebody spiked my drinkTomorrow when the rumors fly
I'm gonna build me an alibi
Tomorrow when the stories spread
I'll be wishing we were still in bedJust hold me for the moment
When the morning comes we'll figure where to go then
People are gonna talk, you know them
Don't have to stay together just to show themWe know they're gonna say we're wild
But we remember what we did and smile
Who cares what tomorrow will bring
Baby, I'm putting every thing inTonight, I wanna lay right here beside you
Tonight, I wanna put my arms around you
And hold you tight
'Cause baby, all that really matters is tonight
Baby, all that really matters is tonightI see lovers shattered
Bruised and broke and battered
For better or for worse
Some people only get the latterI see people making alibis
They hurt each other with their lies
But tomorrow when we walk away
There'll be nothing left to sayTomorrow for certain
We know that this would have to end
And when we drop the curtains
At least we know we're gonna still be friendsAnd maybe if the time is right
Or some other lonely night
We'll remember all the passion we had
Remember what we needed so badTonight, I wanna lay right here beside you
Tonight, I wanna put my arms around you
And hold you tight
'Cause baby, all that really matters is tonight
Baby, all that really matters is tonightTomorrow who knows where we'll be I'm taking this time just for me
I'm throwing caution to the wind
I'm giving up every little thingI, I don't know what the future holds
Maybe well take separate roads tomorrow
TomorrowBut tonight, I wanna lay right here beside you
Tonight, I wanna put my arms around you

And hold you tight
'Cause baby, all that really matters is tonight
Baby, all that really matters is tonight

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/