Last Call

Lee Ann Womack

I recognized your number
It's burned into my brain
Felt my heart beating faster
Every time it rang
Some things never change

That's why I didn't answerI bet you're in a bar

Listening to a country song

Glass of Johnny Walker Red

With no one to take you home They're probably closing down

Saying, "No more alcohol"

I bet you're in a bar

'Cause I'm always your last callI don't need to check that message

I know what it says

"Baby, I still love you"

Don't mean nothing when there's whiskey on your breath

That's the only love I get

So if you're calling I bet you're in a bar

Listening to a cheatin' song

Glass of Johnny Walker Red

With no one to take you home They're probably closing down

Saying, "No more alcohol"

I bet you're in bar

'Cause I'm always your lastCall me crazy but

I think maybe

We've had our last callI bet you're in a bar

It's always the same old song

That Johnny Walker Red

By now it's almost goneBut baby, I won't be there

To catch you when you fall

I bet you're in bar

'Cause I'm always your last call
