Underwater Moonlight

The Soft Boys

He was white and she was white
As only statues are Fifty years they stood there looking Stupid by a jar
One night in mid August when the moonlight got too strong
They climbed off their pedestal and then they sang this song

Past the gun emplacement and the Bones as white as bleach
Through the rats and ivy til' they Came out on a beach
Out into the ocean til' they disappeared from view
Honey when it gets you there's just nothing you can do.

[Chorus]
Underwater moonlight, sets the body free
Underwater moonlight, baby you and me
Underwater moonlight, underwater moonlight

He was pink and she was pink
And onward they did row
Didn't see the giant squid, though
It was fairly slow
When they hit the bottom they were well and truly dead
The statues took their place, and then they rode back home instead

Underwater moonlight
Take your baby down
Underwater moonlight
Watch your baby drown
With love
And in the moonlight
Underwater moonlight
Underwater moonlight
Underwater moonlight
Underwater moonlight

Underwater moonlight
Sets the body free
Underwater moonlight

Baby you and me
Underwater moonlight
Underwater moonlight
Underwater moonlight

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com
written by HITCHCOCK, ROBYN
Lyrics Â© Universal Music Publishing Group

Lyrics provided by
https://damnlyrics.com/