Under Fire

Kosheen

Looking out the window, it's beautiful out there
Give me reasons to remember
Summer trees are stripped and almost bare
It's a late September
Come the sun to kiss it betterThank god for understandingIt seemed that we were under you
It looked like you were under fire
I know the love was never true
The moment we refused to fightIt seemed that I was never right
Walking another sleepless dream
And now everything I leave behind
I leave
For youLook in to the mirror, what am I?
A frightened creature, locked inside
My mother's hair, my father's eyesMemories time rearranged for you
As everything changed for you
Did they make it better?
Thank god for understandingIt seemed that we were under you
It looked like you were under fire
It seemed the love was never true
The moment we refused to fightI know that I was never right
Walking another sleepless dream
And everything I leave behind
I leave
For you
