The Drift

Wand

My mind is awake again
So many miles away
On some ruined planet
The monsters took over the placeIt's funny to see the end
It looks like beginning
This world is unfair
And I don't careThe soil is growing plants
The trees are unaltered
The sky wants a place the shines
There's food in the water
The mountains are more resplendent
Theses mountains are miles away
This world is unfair
And I don't care
