Vehicle City

The Swellers

Uncovered hands are freezing
I swear its colder than its ever been
And I miss the feeling
There's cars along this shit street
I don't recognize
I'll stay outside and watch the walls fall harder than the last time

In the morning when you wake up
If you change your mind, I'll understand
Just try to let me know
I'll still keep the motor running

With all these bodies empty,
I'm sickened I can't see through some
My home away from home
The faces change but all the songs remain the same
It hurts sometimes to know what we once loved was left behind

In the morning when you wake up,
If you change your mind, I'll understand
Just try to let me know
I'll still keep the motor running

Uncovered hands are still freezing
I know its colder than its ever been
And nothing radiates
The arches glow but they will never shine the same
At least to me
So comes the exodus. My family

In the morning when you wake up,
If you change your mind, I'll understand
But I know who I am
I'll still keep the motor running

In the morning when you wake up
In the morning when you wake up
In the morning when you wake up

Lyrics powered by lyrics.tancode.com

written by DIENER, NICHOLAS BRIAN/DIENER, JONATHAN ADAM Lyrics Â© Warner/Chappell Music, Inc.

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/