Learning

Brandon DeVries

If I could be just what you need
Maybe we'd be better off
Different lives and different dreams
Calling out from underneath if I'll be alright, oh IIf I could turn this car around
Only drive into the flames
All the things that we've burned down
Wonder which one will remainPlease take your time
Oh, I just do this for meLet me be the one you run to
For the rest of your life
I'd give up everything to show you
To show you there's still timeI could be the one you run to
For the rest of your life
I'm still learning how to love you
You are the only one that's worth the fightI wish you'd learn to let this go
Lay your troubles down on me
Give me one more chance to show
I'll be all you'll ever needPlease take your time
Oh, I just do this for meLet me be the one you run to
For the rest of your life
I'd give up everything to show you
To show you there's still timeI could be the one you run to
For the rest of your life
I'm still learning how to love you
You are the only one that's worth the fightDon't hold your heart too long
You'll find yourself alone
You've got time, we've got timeLet me be the one you run to
For the rest of your life
I'd give up everything to show you
To show you there's still timeI could be the one you run to
For the rest of your life
I'm still learning how to love you
I'm still learning how to love youLet me be the one you run to
I could be the one you run to Let me be the one you run to
For the rest of your life
Still learning how to love you
You are the only one that's worth the fight

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/