

Life-Like

NoMeansNo

Life-like, a place to live and clothes wear

Life-like, starting here and ending there

Life-like, maximising time and space

Life-like, a happy smile upon my face

 All this and so much more

 Light floods the open door

 Blood rushing to my head

I standing on the edge ofLife-like, crawling up out of the slime

Life-like, standing in the check out line

 Life-like, eyeing all the pretty girls

 Life-like, dreaming of another world

 Where are my freinds today?

 What gannes shall we play?

 In their hearts I can't see

 Nothing looks back at me but life-Like

 A million souls await the call to rise and sing

They stand and fall while in the clouds the angels count the myriad things

 Divinity and grace have etched like lines face of God

 But here it's very odd

His miracles abound but they arg drown sound of tapping fingersLife-like, a face for every double take

 Life-like, the genuine, original fake

 Life-like, in the lies you tell to me

 Life-like, a reasonable facsimile

 Open your hand to me

 In your palm I can read

 Long life and happiness

 It's just like all the rest, it's life-like life

 In the morning I walk beneath a shining

 My steps reverberate in beat with the m humanity

 Those murmuts fill my ears but the voice never heaf

As I walk along that busy street and though there nothing to seek

 The streak of the tears upon my cheeks are life-like
