

Scream

Mindy McCready

Oh, oh, so tired of walkin' around draggin' this ghost
Can't escape the constant ache that wears on my bones
It's too strong to rub it out, it's stuck like a stain
A permanent reminder drivin' me insane I still see finality in that look on your face
Still hide this bitterness I can almost taste
All the things I should have said still echo inside
Can't listen any longer, it won't change goodbye I scream your name, to the rain fallin' down on me
And I break the silence inside me
Since you left me with nothing to see
So I scream your name Anger so buried deep, eats you up inside
Spreads like a parasite, there's no where to hide
I want to let it go before it smothers my soul
Uncover my heart again, fillin' the hole I scream your name, to the rain fallin' down on me
And I break the silence inside me
Since you left me with nothing to see
So I scream your name, to the rain I fall down on my knees
My face hits the ground
I throw my tears into the storm
As the thunder sounds I scream your name, to the rain fallin' down on me
And I break the silence inside me
Since you left me with nothing to see
So I scream your name, I scream your name
To the rain, I scream your name
