Everytime You Cry

John Farnham

Never before have I seen you look so blue
I can't find a cure and nothing comforts you
But the light at the end of the tunnel
Doesn't shine at the end of the dayEvery time you cry
Save up all your tears
I will be your rainbow when it disappears
Wash away the pain
'til you smile again
I will be the laughter in your eyes
Every time you cryTime has a way of wounding what has healed
What can I say? I know just how you feel
Your soul is dark and troubled
Like a river running wildEvery time you cry
Save up all your tears
I will be your rainbow when it disappears
Wash away the pain
'til you smile again
I will be the one who dries your eyes
Every time you cry
Every time you cryWell, you know that's what I'm here for
I will give you what you need, more
There will be no hesitation
I will reap no rewardEvery time you cry
Save up all your tears
I will be your rainbow when they disappear
Wash away the pain
'til you smile again
I will be the one who dries your eyes
Every time you cry
Every time you cry
Save up all your tears
I will be your rainbow when they disappear
Wash away the pain
'til you smile again
I will be the one who dries your eyes
Every time you cry

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/