I Don't Do Floors

Jann Browne

I donâ€™t do floors anymore

Iâ€™ll bet you think I start to think about you when the evening shadows start to fall.
You probably think that I canâ€™t live without you,
and I sit around prayinâ€™ that youâ€™ll call.
Well, Iâ€™ll admit I used to wait and worry,
every time I heard the slamminâ€™ door.
Up all night long, walking â€˜til dawn.
But I donâ€™t do floors anymore.
Chorus:
I donâ€™t walk them over you, losing sleep and feelinâ€™ blue,
Cryinâ€™ like I did before.
I donâ€™t wring my hands and moan,
hopinâ€™ that youâ€™ll phone
I donâ€™t do floors anymore.
(Guitar break)
Iâ€™ll bet you hope that Iâ€™m still dreaminâ€™ of you.
That I toss and turn all night long.
All I ever did was try to love you,
All you ever did was do me wrong.

Well, Iâ€™ll admit I keep a few old memories
tucked away back in my dresser drawer.
Just for a smile, once in a while,
But I donâ€™t do floors anymore.
(Repeat chorus)
I donâ€™t do floors anymore.
Honey, I donâ€™t do floors anymore.
