Leave

Heroin

I got away from coming to where I was coming from.
I got away. We're just thinking of our selves.
We're just taking side. We're just just selfish.
I got away. You leave.
Everyone seems to just be a product of their enviroment or their surroundings.
I know that's a well-known fact,
but it's sick that so many kids will go through the motions.
I mean, what are you trying to and what are you trying to prove?
Without question, if you're not really concerned, then okay,
But it seems to me we are just wasting our time,
Sometimes it's good to think that I am at least a little bit different from most of my generation.
I saw them grow up so fast.
