Like Them

Ivory Hours

You cracked the curtains
Put on my shirt and
Lay in the morning sunYou looked so perfect
My head was a circus
Wondering if it was loveI remember thinking
We would be different
We'd never live like themWe could hear them fighting
Every other night the
Tears were rolling down her chinOh I said we'd never be like themWe'll be Laughing until we're old
We
Don't need a precious stone
We'll
Be watching the sunset
Hoping it never endsAll through that summer
You were my lover
We were living in a dreamI went off the deep end
Waiting for the weekend
Knowing you'd be there with meI remember thinking
As the sun was sinking
I'd be happy if I diedLaying right beside you
Looking in your eyes I
Didn't have a thing to hideOh I said we'd never be like themWe'll be Laughing until we're old
We
Don't need a precious stone
We'll
Be watching the sunset
Hoping it never ends
