Make It Right

Alter Bridge

How many times have you cut, only to feel the pain?
How many days have you run, only to crawl?
How many nights did you scream, only to scream in vain?
How many years till you face the shame of it all?Into the fire you fall, if only you could make it right
Stand up and fight for resolve, if only you could make it rightHow many lies did you steal just to convince the fool?
How many masks did you wear disguise and remove?
How many years till you break all that keeps breaking you?
How many tears will you waste while finding the truth?Into the fire you fall, if only you could make it right
Stand up and fight for resolve, if only you could make it right
Into the fire you fall, if only you could make it right
Stand up and fight for resolve, if only you could make it rightThere comes a time, oh, oh, when one must decide, oh, oh
The life they are living is far from true
Lost and deceived, oh, oh, nothing to believe, oh, oh
I know I have so much yet to prove, prove
I've yet to prove, proveInto the fire you fall, if only you could make it right
Stand up and fight for resolve, if only you could make it right
Into the fire you fall, if only you could make it right
Stand up and fight for resolve, if only you could make it right
