Millencolin

Take your silly words and listen to yourself
'Cause I'm living my life tonight and nothing's gonna hurt me
Can't you understand that I can be myself
Without everything, without anything, without any help from you Now we're not having fun, we never really laughed
We have to get things before we end ourself
What about me? Do you care enough to see
That I can't live my life this way and that you don't understand?
What about me? Am I the one who's going down
'Cause sometimes I can't find myself, I'm wondering if that man's really me?
I remember those days when we first met
How simple things were then with no heartache and no pain
But now things change so fast that
We must take the time to talk things over and listen to our minds
We're not having fun, we never really laughed
We have to get things before we end ourself
What about me? Do you care enough to see
That I can't live my life this way and that you don't understand?
What about me? Am I the one who's going down
'Cause sometimes I can't find myself, I'm wondering if that man's really me?
