Piers Faccini

This happened once before
When I came to your door

    No reply

    They said it wasn't you
    But I saw you peep through

        Your window

        I saw the light

        I saw the light

    I know that you saw me
    'Cause I looked up to see

        Your face

    I tried to telephone

    They said you were not home

        That's a lie

    'Cause I know where you've been

        And I saw you walk in

            Your door

            I nearly died

            I nearly died

    'Cause you walked hand in hand

        With another man

            In my place

    If I were you, I'd realize that I

    Love you more than any other guy

        And I'll forgive the lies that I

    Heard before, when you gave me no reply

    I tried to telephone

    They said you were not home

        That's a lie

    'Cause I know where you've been

        And I saw you walk in

            Your door

            I nearly died

            I nearly died

    'Cause you walked hand in hand

        With another man

In my place
