Dear friend, sometimes i know the world can get you down, just know i'll always be around to talk about it and even when the night seems darkest and hope is far away, i'll be right beside you on that day.no matter where our lives take us, even if we end up different places, i promise i'll always answer when you call.
and when you dont have a shoulder left cry on i'll be the single thing you can rely on i promise i'll be there to catch your tears, as they fallDear friend i know that sometimes i have let you down, just know i'll always be around and workin on it. and even life seems the hardest and nothing feels ok, i'll be right beside you on that day.no matter where our lives take us, even if we end up different places, i promise i'll always answer when you call.
and when you dont have a shoulder left to cry on i'll be the single thing you can rely on i promise i'll be there to catch your tears... as they fall
