Parade

Ivoryline

This is my melody
This is my sympathy for your coming out
This is your coming out paradeYou've been here for several years
And your life's been quite alright 'til now
He says you've done something wrong, you've scored
But he says you've done something wrongReaching out for him to hold you
Or just to call you
Holding off for something
And just to sing alongThis is my melody
This is my sympathy for your coming out
This is your coming out paradeThis is my melody
This is my sympathy for your coming out
This is your coming out paradeKindness is dead in this town
And drama has been crowned
The acceptable medium of livingKindness is dead in this town
And drama holds the crownAll alone here and dying slow here
Screaming loud dear that you
You need more from meThis is my melody
This is my sympathy for your coming out
This is your coming out paradeThis is my melody for your coming out
And this is your coming out paradeYou know, you know it's gleaming out your eyes
And you know it's sneaking through your precious lips
You know, you know it's gleaming out your eyes
And you know it's sneaking through your precious lipsThis is my melody
This is my sympathy for your coming out
This is your coming out paradeThis is my melody
This is my sympathy for your coming out
This is your coming out paradeThis is your coming out parade, parade
Parade, parade, parade, parade, parade
Your coming out, your coming out
