Ice In the Sun

Status Quo

I'm not a little boy I've lived alone and loved so many more But when she touches me I'm on the way I'm underneath the floorLike ice in the sun I melt away Whenever she comes I melt away Like ice in the sun I melt awayI sit down in a chair and Read a book as if I couldn't there But she is in a room and I must look I see her everywhereLike ice in the sun I melt away Whenever she comes I melt away Like ice in the sun I melt awayShe opens up her eyes as if to speak She looks at me and I am weak Her eyes they seem much bigger than before I cannot think anymoreLike ice in the sun I melt away Whenever she comes I melt away Like ice in the sun I melt awayLike ice in the sun I melt away Whenever she comes I melt away Like ice in the sun I melt awayLike ice in the sun I melt away Whenever she comes I melt away Like ice in the sun
