Blind Suffering

Brainstorm

Looking back I smile at the voices in my head,
That always said to keep this place secret a spell that allows me to see
Because of all the subtle words,
I hear you screamI've tread and spanned the horizon
To cross the blood red
I strike down the faceless and unknown
Now I'm brandedI fall down into your own despair Voices within Show me how and show me where Blind sufferingLet me in, get me out
Lost my soul without a trace
Found it again in my secret placeThe final tear
Will be lost in rain
First comes the light
Then comes the painMy body trembles in fear
No longer controlled
Watching my dreams disappear
In the palace of gold
