Running To The Sea

Royksopp

I could hear them howling from afar
I saw them rushing to your car
In a moment all went screaming wild
Until the darkness kill the lightI remember running to the sea
The burning houses and trees
I remember running to the sea
Alone an blinded by the fearAnd the river flows beneath your skin
Like savage horses kept within
And all is wasted in the sand
Like breaking diamonds in your handsI remember running to the sea
Remember falling to my knees
I remember gliding off the shores
Until i touched the ocean floorAnd the river flows beneath your skin
Like savage horses kept within
And all is wasted in the sand
Like breaking diamonds in your handsAnd the river grows inside of me (x4)
