

Dark Side of the Room

Hugh Cornwell

It's not a comfort zone
I feel so far from home
My blood is never warm
My skin can feel the storm
The lights they flicker bright

As we approach the night knowing I watch the guitars play

I feel the drumbeat sway
I smell the singers sweat
The song ain't got there yet
The crowd is feeling good

I know from where I'm stood it's growing

You'll find me on the dark side of the room The road it never ends

The heart that never mends
Will you be scared tonight
Will the birds all take flight
And you might see the moon

From this side of the room glowing You'll find me on the dark side of the room

Just look and you might find me there
