Let It Be

Kane

Well, the answer is always the same
Won't you please just let it be?
'Cause I've been there and all I can say
Is that it strays away from me
With the memory of yesterday's grace
She spins away from me so I can go onEvery long night, every whisper
Every song that never saw it coming
And she says, "It's, it's oh so right
It's oh so right"Every cold night, every shiver
Every time I didn't feel it coming
And she says, "It's, it's oh so right"As heartless and cruel as can be
She moves away from me
Still I need to be hers every time
With all that I can be
As she calls in the deep of the night
She takes all I've got from me so I can go on, yeahEvery long night, every whisper
Every song that never saw it coming
Baby, don't you know, it's, it's not alright?
No, it's not alright, no, no, noEvery cold night, every shiver
Every silent scream and she never listens
Well, it's, it's not alright, no
It's not alright, no, no, no, noShe rides with the gods of the night
She rules the tides in me
She crushes the waves with her sigh
And she, oh Lord, becomes a part of meBut her care is as sharp as a knife now, yeah
I'll say, how can she step away from me?
Oh, how can you just walk away from me?
Oh Lord, no, no, no, no, noEvery cold night, every whisper
Every silent scream and you never listen
When you say, "What?"
It's alright, it's not alright, no, oh, oh yeahEvery last time, every shiver
Every dirty game
Well, it just isn't right, no
It just isn't rightShe wakes at the dawn of the day
And spins away from me so I can go on, I can go on
