

Who You Are Not

letlive.

[Verse 1]

And I know we all wanna taste the sun
But I'm the only man who gets burned for fun
And God bless this heat and my cancerous tan
And I stand before you, these holes in my hands[Pre-Chorus]
So you know instead of the hell I'd rather be whole

And it shows

I've never been whole[Chorus]

Whoa, we might be the same

But if we don't notice

We might be okay

Despite the cliché

I'm just out of focus

But you like it that way[Verse 2]

Can I speak half truth with my smart mouth?

May I fill your ears with cheerful doubt?

Extend my reach but I won't reach out

I'd rather watch you drown than admit my drought[PreChorus]

So you know instead of the hell I'd rather be whole

And it shows

I've never been whole[Chorus]

We might be the same

But if we don't notice

We might be okay

Despite the cliché

I'm just out of focus

And you like it that way[Bridge]

You tell me I'm a bad man

With your bad mouth

That's how I know it's meant to be

I know we all wanna chase the sun

And I'm the only man that gets burned for fun[Chorus]

We might be the same

But if we don't notice

We might be okay

Despite the cliché

I'm just out of focus

And you like it that way[Outro]

We don't know

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>