

Time Machine

Frankie Chavez

The greatest blessing I will never get to see* Every moment I regret it and it kills me (Damn) I had to cause you pain
And now I'll never get to see your precious face It's too late but in my heart you hold that special place
I still remember the day
In a room filled with people but I felt so alone Eyes all cried out, no longer whole Remember looking through the sky like god oh why why me
This is my only regret wish I could build a time machine
My life's now spinning in a whirl wind
Wish I could go back back in time where what was our begin
How I regret letting you go
Feels like I'm missing the final pieces to my puzzle
Now I'm sinking, I'm going down
i wish that i could build a time machine
i'm going down
i wish that i could build a time machinemy heart is pounding it feels like i ran a marathon every second that goes by i'm slowly dying (damn) but still you don't believe look in your eyes it's like your (empty cant gwt through to you) my heart is broken i'm so hopeless, i'm so hopeless girl no tricks left under my sleeves girl i know that i ain't perfect but i feel inside so much hurt i can't erase it but i have to try to get you back this is the last thing that i do i'm gonna make you see that i've changed and you can count one me (oh)
my life's now spinning in a whirl wind
wish i could go back back in time where what was our begin
how i regret letting you go
feels like i'm missing the final pieces to my puzzle
now i'm sinking, i'm going down
i wish that i could build a time machine
i'm going down
i wish that i could build a time machine

Song Discussions is protected by U.S. Patent 9401941. Other patents pending.

Lyrics provided by <https://damnyrics.com/>