

Better

Plumb

You live inside a dream
Everything taste so sweet
As long as it agrees with how you feel
Your dancing in your sleep
To all the eyes that look at me
Are working your anxieties
Your so afraid
So you try to break me
I don't want to care and I don't want to hate
And I don't want to see you fall to far away
All because of fear 'cause when your afraid
You lash out at me and you say all the things
That you never meant to say and try to break me
But in the end what leaves you broken
II the end it makes you better
Your face it looks so green
When the sun is shining differently
And your standing in the shade
'Cause face to face your so sweet
Like candy sticking to my teeth
But underneath so damaging
There's no strength in trying to break me
I don't want to care and I don't want to hate
And I don't want to see you fall to far away
All because of fear 'cause when your afraid
You lash out at me and you say all the things
That you never meant to say and try to break me
But in the end what leaves you broken
In the end it makes you better
