Where I Let You Down (Numb)

I See Stars

Feeling too comfortable in my thoughts
Drifting away, day by day
Starting to wander off and see that I'm alone
If this is fate, should I leave or stay?So I guess that this is starting over
Back to when I was your four-leaf clover
Don't make a sound
This is the part where I let you, where I let you downThe problem is, is you thought that you had me at hello
You were wrong,(so damn wrong)
It's a summer, with no lover
Well I could never look forward to something moreSo I guess that this is starting over
Back to when I was your four-leaf clover
So don't make a sound
This is the part where I let you, where I let you down
Hold your hands high, read between the lines,
When I still had timeWell I could never look forward to something more
To a summer with no lover
I could never look forward to something more(Feeling too comfortable in my head, starting to wonder if you did it on your own)So I guess this is starting over
Back to when I was your four-leaf clover
So don't make a sound
This is the part where I let you, where I let you downSo I guess that this is starting over (Hold your hands high)
Back to when I was your four-leaf clover (Read between the lines)
So don't make a sound (Where I still had time)
This is the part where I let you down, I let you down

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/