Tastes Like Wine

Gov't Mule

Hey, still here, morning light
Last night was a world Ive never known
Parallel universes, one small room collided
Now the seed is sewnTime, time, my friend, weve been through so much, it seems Alone together till the end
Now though I find this all so threatening
I can feel it sinking into my skinGods must be nervous, cant you feel it shaking inside you
World must be trembling like I am
Clouds must be breaking, blood raining down from the heavens
And it feels like gold, tastes like wineStrength has always been my enemy
Solitude Ive known like my own name
People by now know what to expect from me
Nothing, and I will do the sameGods must be nervous, cant you feel it shaking inside you
World must be trembling like I am
Clouds must be breaking, blood raining down from the heavens
And it feels like gold, tastes like wineGods must be nervous, cant you feel it shaking inside you
World must be trembling like I am
Clouds must be breaking, blood raining down from the heavens
And it feels like gold, tastes like wine

Lyrics provided by https://damnlyrics.com/