Truth

Truth Before Treason

We're closing in on fate
Death is right behind us all
As the trees move in the wind, I see that you are fading away
Please tell me you're not afraid of what's to come
I watch as you slip into pandemonium

Don't turn away - it won't be the same
To find out what you're made of is really nothing at all

Things aren't going as we planned - I tell you not to worry at all
But still I'm falling further from what I've become - what have we done?
Death is growing closer, but still we face today
How come we've come so far but still we can't seem to find a way?

It's just not the same, we can't find a way
Don't turn your back on me

Life is slipping far away from here
We may never return, woah
Suffering is far from over, yeah
Death has just begun, woah

Things aren't going as we planned - we are seconds from the end
Things aren't going as we planned - no

The rise of a nation leads to its own demise

It's just not the same, we can't find a way
Don't turn your back on me

Life is slipping far away from here
We may never return, woah
Suffering is far from over, yeah
Death has just begun, yeah

This is the final vow to end this suffering
