

A New Tomorrow

A Friend in London

We don't believe in god or jesus christ anymore

We don't need colleges to validate our lives anymore

We don't need twelve steps to show us how weak we've become anymore

We don't need to buy into a system that offers empty promises anymore

We don't need protection against anything anybody might say

We know that government can't improve out lives anyway

We don't need to drug ourselves anymore to keep the boredom away

We don't anything except relying on ourselves for a change

I can see a new tomorrow

Now
