

My Heart Must Do the Crying

The Renegades

though you hurt me so, cannot show the way i feel I wonder if you know that i thought your love was real i was running around, can a man break down? no i just keep sighing
I can wear a frown but my heart must do the crying in a hundred years, i could not forget the sorrow if i shed my tears, i would cry again tomorrow could i say that i do not need to cry? no i would just be lying but i cannot break down so my heart must do the crying though i am hurt inside, it will never show I still have my pride

though you hurt me so, cannot show the way i feel
I wonder if you know that i thought your love was real
i was running around, can a man break down? no
i just keep sighing
I can wear a frown but my heart must do the crying

Lyrics submitted by Raptz.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>