

Genosha

Middlenamekill

You made your getaway so clean, you don't even see the one you're mutating, I once believed, you left because you saw something wrong in me. So many years I've been searching looking for where I went wrong, I would wait so long, for you to return to me, will you come home ? I would wait so long, did I push you away, where did I go wrong ? I became the beast for a time I sought solace in sorecery, the she came to me, and I could see I'm not a devil...my blood is clean. So many years I've been searching, looking for where I belong, but lately the masks have been turning, cause I'm not the one who is wrong. I will wait no more, your wounds won't define me, I have come home, I will wait no more, your wounds won't define me, I have come home, walk away, abandon me, but nothing will, disable me Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>