

Christine

Ben Jelen

Christine, she tells me
That she's in love again
Christine, she says
That she still loves me She stands there calling my name
In her boyfriend's jacket in the rain
I guess she's in love with the whole damn world And the whole world loves her
Won't turn without her
It has to have her
I can't live without her Just one moment with Christine
You know exactly what I mean
She stays a night and then she leaves
Just a little hope in between One more moment with Christine
It's like a lifetime, where've I been?
I want to live to the extreme
I need another taste of Christine Oh, I need another taste
Another taste of Christine Christine, the touch
Of another human touch
There whispered breath
Falling on your skin I don't know where to begin
Well, I just arrived, now I'm locked in
And now I'm caught in your mixed up world And the whole world loves you
Won't turn without you
It has to have you
I can't live without you Just one moment with Christine
You know exactly what I mean
She stays a night and then she leaves
Just a little hope in between One more moment with Christine
It's like a lifetime, where've I been?
I want to live to the extreme
Won't you tell me, where is Christine? And how many times will it take for me to learn?
Tell me, are we headed for nowhere, Christine?
And how many times will it take for me to learn?
Tell me, are we headed for nowhere? And the whole world loves her Just one moment with Christine
You know exactly what I mean
She stays a night and then she leaves
Just a little hope in between One more moment with Christine
It's like a lifetime, where've I been?
I want to live to the extreme
I need another taste of Christine How many times does it take to learn?

How many times does it take to learn?
How many times does it take to learn?
And how many times does it take to learn?
Another taste of Christine

Lyrics provided by
<https://damnyrics.com/>