When Was the Last Time

Satanic Surfers

thanx for the invitation but we really couldn't care less about participating in some stupid contest where music is nothing more than a sales number statistic another capitalist market of material abundance and the radio pumps out another meaningless hit and the radio pumps out some more of that shit to sell it to the kids tell me when was the last time the music moved you tell me when was the last time you were swept off your feet to the rhythm of a beat. (the 2nd verse of this song was stolen from someone else, from a song that was on a mixed tape my older brother had)
