

Planets

Kate Rusby

I can see the planets are aligning for me
I cannot read them for the future's gone and all behind me
Through the world I am wandering, wandering
A soft breeze blowing, I am wandering now
Through the world I am wandering, wandering
These are the days I live now

You said turn around so I cannot see your tears falling
You don't make me proud, but I see there is a new day dawning
Through the world I am wandering, wandering
A soft breeze blowing, I am wandering now
Through the world I am wandering, wandering
These are the days I live now

On nights like these I could fly up to the sky above me
Like Superman I would change the course of earth revolving
Across the world I am wandering, wandering
A soft breeze blowing, I am wandering now
Through the world I am wandering, wandering
These are the days I live now

I can see the planets are aligning for me
I dare not breathe for then the clouds will come and then deny me
Through the world I am wandering, wandering
A soft breeze blowing, I am wandering now
Through the world I am wandering, wandering
These are the days I live now

Across this world I am wandering, wandering
A soft breeze blowing, I am wandering now
Through the world I am wandering, wandering
These are the days I live now

---

Lyrics submitted by Jon Dickinson.

Lyrics provided by

<https://damnlyrics.com/>