

Traded

Pay The Girl

You left the light on, you left me turned on
You put my heart out while your cigarette still burned on
You walked away, nothing more to say
Now the story keeps on turning You gave up, when you wake up
You're going to find you're living in a different world
I tried to save it, no matter what I gave it
I'm completely intoxicated I traded what I wanted, just to make it happen
Just so you could walk away again You left me burned out and as it turns out
There was nothing left to my heart worth tearing
You don't realize that I fantasize
About the dress that your friend isn't wearing You gave up, when you wake up
You're going to find you're living in a different world
I tried to save it, no matter what I gave it
I'm completely intoxicated I traded what I wanted, just to make it happen
Just so you could walk away again from me
I traded what I needed, now I can't believe it
I took a chance on my heart so you could leave it I traded what I wanted, just to make it happen
Just so you could walk away again from me
I traded what I needed, now I can't believe it
I took a chance on my heart so you could leave it Yeah, leave it
